BLOG

I have decided that I want to leave Jamaica. I have complicated feelings about Jamaica and I have different values than most members of my family. Religion is very important to them and they go to church every week. They think I should marry my boyfriend and start a family but I want to experience more things. A lot of people here have problems, but I don't want my own family to have so many struggles. My boyfriend is happy because he has family in the USA so maybe we will go there together. I think people there have more privileges than we do here in Jamaica.
